Fiori Gialli (Yellow Flowers)

Yusei Kikuchi, 1998

Yusei Kikuchi is a Japanese ceramicist and woodworker. He is known for his work in creating ceramic vessels that incorporate natural materials, such as wood and dried flowers. His work is characterized by its simplicity and its use of natural materials.

This vase is made of ceramic and features a collage of dried flowers and leaves. The vase is tall and cylindrical, with a light blue, textured surface. The collage is made of dried flowers and leaves in shades of yellow, tan, and brown, arranged in a vertical pattern.
